NHC 2013

Newsletter #5, June

Andy Just is the Champion

For the first time in Championship history it took extra holes to decide the 2013 National Hickory Champion. Andy Just, Shelbyville, Indiana, prevailed on the 37th hole nipping Bobby Sly, twice a former NHC Champion. Andy hit a superb second shot to within four feet of the hole, then took two putts to finish. The two golfers finished tied at 155 with the extra hole being decided by a score of 4 strokes to 5.

Andy first played at the NHC in 2003 then took several years off. He returned in 2010 and has entered the last four NHCs, finishing 3rd in 2011. He is a son of the late Elmore Just and a nephew of Mike Just.

Lost Medals Found

The shipment of medals from Edinburgh, Scotland finally arrived at NHC headquarters Tuesday, June 11...more than a little late. The cause was a shipping label that had fallen off the box. UPS opened the parcel and tracked down the Czar from the enclosed invoice, calling his office, not cell phone. Medals will be mailed to all recipients in the next two weeks.

Area 51 Report

Rob "Kilty" Ahlschwede made a stirring presentation at the Championship dinner in cause of the Area 51 charitable organization that provides golf equipment for wounded veterans returning from overseas. Kilty reported that passing the basket at the dinner resulted in over $750 in cash contributions. Many thanks go to generous NHCers.

Following Up

NHC 2013 included a bunch of firsts:

- First time at a private country club
- First Hickory Major held at a US Open course
- First extra hole playoff
- First presentation of the Ralph Livingston III cup
- First time a choice of balls was available

Photos

If you have good photos of golf action or candid scenes around the Cricket Club and want to share them with Pete, e-mail them to the Czar. There is always a need for good digital photos for use in future newsletters and the program book. You can also post photos on the NHC web site.

Results

There was one small mistake in the 5-way logjam at 15th place in the Reserve Division. Steve Simer has 15th place alone. The other five, including the Czar, are now tied for 16th. Corrected results sheet is attached.

Golf World will give the NHC a little ink in the June 21 issue.
